

IN-HOUSE TRAINING AND CONSULTANCY SERVICES

IN HOUSE REMINISCENCE TRAINING FOR:

- Health and Social Care staff and volunteers
- Community arts workers
- Libraries and museum staff
- Everyone interested in developing reminiscence work skills

Age Exchange can deliver a reminiscence training course at your own training venue for your team of workers.

The course contents are as indicated in the Reminiscence Centre training brochure, or we can tailor a course specifically to your group's training needs

As well as the courses listed in the Reminiscence Centre course schedule, Age Exchange has an additional programme of specialised courses that can be delivered in-house.

For example:

- Intergenerational Reminiscence
- Reminiscence and Ethnic Elders
- Making Theatre from Memories
- Reminiscence and Learning Disabilities
- Reminiscence and Family Carers of People with Dementia

On agreeing the type of course required, Age Exchange will provide a suitably experienced and qualified trainer to deliver the course.

The fee for in house training is £600 a day plus travel and accommodation expenses for the trainer

Shorter workshops can also be arranged at different rates.

The maximum size for the training group is 16.

TRAINING AND CONSULTANCY PACKAGE

We can also offer organisations consultancy services to assist and support organisations to successfully plan for and complete the reminiscence projects that they are undertaking.

We recommend a three-stage process of introductory training and preparation, midterm review and working towards completion. Support, advice and assistance are available throughout the whole process.

Training and consultancy is £600 a day. For example, the above package would cost £1800. There would also be costs of travel and accommodation.

THE VALUE OF REMINISCENCE

Skilled reminiscence work helps to generate stimulating and enjoyable creative activities.

It enables people to make rewarding social contacts with people of different ages and ethnic backgrounds, and it enriches personal and professional work satisfaction for a wide range of carers, educators and artists.
